“ I smile when I think of the joy I felt when seeing that Barry was in one of my classes back at Woodward. He always made the class more enjoyable with his wit and great sense of humor. Rest in peace dear friend. I know you made a difference in the lives and hearts of so many. Sue Bollinger Christiansen

“ I remember the joy of seeing that Barry was in one of my classes at Woodward. With a great teacher, he just enriched it all. With a less talented one, he made the whole experience more bearable with his fun sense of humor and wit. You were a treasure, Barry. Rest in peace, old friend. I know you touched many lives and hearts. Sue Bollinger Christiansen

“ I grew up looking at Barry as a big brother.... His parents were friends of my parents and Barry learned to tolerate “this little guy who clung to him” I will remember him fondly.... Rest in peace Barry 🥹

“ *Friends and family,
As many of you remember Barry was a special friend. That smile and way about him was the best. Bond Hill School, Roselawn, New Woodward and U. C. were all a part of Barry's life.
Barry was always one of the best dressed and was a walking "Sharp Dressed Man." I need to share with all of you a story that sticks in my mind. Barry was the first person that I remember having a monogram on his shirts and pants. Think about the monogram, BR. I asked Barry why he had these initials on his clothes? He told me his Mom didn't want him to get lost when he went downtown. So she had the bus he rode (Bond Hill - Roselawn) BR monogrammed on his clothes.
I will miss Barry. Rest in peace my friend.*

“ *Barry and I go back 78 years, to the third grade in Miss Kessel's class, when he lived on Eastlawn Drive, next door to Steve Levinson, I believe, and across Losantiville from my future wife. I'll miss him as a man of clear conviction and lively sense of humor.
The world could use more like him.*
