“ I just now found out about Bernie's passing. I am so sorry to hear of it. He was a great support to my husband, Ron, when he was at Meadowbrook nursing home. He was his roommate and he took on the role of being his advocate when necessary. It was much appreciated. Bernie was unique and his stories helped us get through what was a very hard time for Ron and our family. He even attended Ron's funeral. He has a special place in my heart. I thank you, Bernie. May you be at peace.

“ I met Bernie in his mid eighties, still full of life and a vivid memory of his past years well lived. A smaller physical man with a strong opinion and straight forward character. An early riser, hard worker, sharp dresser, generous and very punctual were some of his traits I enjoyed. A man who used a simple pencil and paper to take down important facts along with daily and weekly tasks, which he kept folded in this pocket. His loved for baked goods and sweets kept him visiting well stocked displayed cases. Bernie briefly spoke of past sorrows but quickly turn to the present for a positive outlook. May we all remember Bernie's accomplishments, his successful business, his love for synagogue, his life lessons he shared with family along with his generosity. May you rest in peace for eternity. With much respect for a life well lived,
Love, David Nedelman

“ So many memories of Bernie over so many years. Two things about his personality stand out in our minds... Generosity and the phrase Bernie never “knew a stranger” His story telling with such details were compelling. You will be missed by all who’s lives you touched in many ways❤️❤️
Love,

“Bernie came to my house for Thanksgiving with my friend Vicki Goldstein. We enjoyed his company so much. Bernie was so appreciative and had such a great sense of humor. He lived down the street from me and walked everywhere. He carried his flashlight and would sometimes walk as early as 4:30 before there was any traffic. I was very glad our paths crossed. He was definitely a person who left a lasting impression. God bless Bernie.”
