“ I hadn't known Ellen very long. I helped out my friend, Karen, who drove Ellen to her various appointments. A few months ago Karen asked if I could pick up Ellen from her residence and drop her off. Ellen was often not feeling well when I picked her up. However, she was pretty happy planning her 80th birthday celebration. She shared many stories about her life with her husband, Jay, whom she missed dearly. I would always try to make it easy for Ellen to get into my car and I would put her walker in the back. It was funny to me how she would say "You have a luxury car, I don't want to scratch it up." For me, it's just a car. I drove Ellen to an appointment a few days before she passed away. She was not feeling well. We never know what a person is going through. I pray her spirit is at peace. My condolences to Ellen's family. Peace and blessings.

“ I met Ellen on Bennington Drive while I was mowing my grass. Ellen came over in distress because she had set off the panic alarm in their new home across the street. We always had a good laugh about that. Ellen and Jay were always friendly, and we all enjoyed many neighborhood gatherings. It's comforting to know Ellen & Jay are now reunited. Our sympathies to the family.

“ I’m a receptionist at StoryPoint and I met Ellen when she first moved in. I asked her where she was from; I recognized her NY accent. She said something like “I’m from Brooklyn and I hate it here (in Ohio)!” I liked her right away. She reminded me of my late in-laws who were Jewish and from Brooklyn, who I adored. I became very fond of Ellen. She was feisty and very kind. I miss her

“ I road bikes with your Dad and remember him fondly and spoke about our cycling days at his funeral. I even bought his bike afterwards and he would be happy to know I ride it. I haven’t seen your mom in a while but loved to watch your mom and dad together! She always made me giggle.
I am sorry to hear of her passing and know they both will be missed.
