“ I was so saddened to hear of this. I just found out today. There are no words. I just spoke to Jerry not too long ago and he was planning a trip down to Florida to see us. Jerry has been a big part of my life for many many years, especially since my father passed they were best friends And I always felt a closeness to him like almost another father. My heart is broken and I am so saddened by his passing. I will miss the funny stories the great laughs and most of all just catching up on the phone rest in peace my friend, I'm sure you'll see my father in heaven amongst it , many others you will be missed there just are no words

“ Jerry you will be missed. We have so enjoyed your company these many years. It has been so much fun sharing life's events with you - so many fun times, great conversations and so many laughs. Your smile was contagious! You made our lives more meaningful and enjoyable and we hope we did the same for you.

“ R.I.P. Jerry
You were my first friend when I was born across the street from you and your family on Lexington Ave. Your kindness and concern for me will never be forgotten.

“ The family Mellman lived directly across the street from my family home on Lexington Ave in 1945. Our 2 clans were close. The Mellman brothers and my father Jule thought themselves athletes and would work out in our back yard. Our chaise lounge cushions became gym tumbling mats. I lived in that house until 1st grade when we moved away. As a result of being thrown around by Jerry and his brothers I was on the junior and senior gymnastic team. Jerry remained a member of our family and learned the real estate investment business from my father. Jerry continued to learn and was a huge success in the scrap business. I live full time in Miami Beach and have lost touch with Jerry. Saying his name still brings a smile to my face. Seeing him on the Weil obituary page moments ago has left me very emotional. I will miss his great smile and enthusiastic greeting. Rest in peace my old friend, and to his family please appreciate your years with him.

Hello Mellman Family and Steve Clayton. My Dad grew up with Jerry (My Dad was Albert Apseloff) and I remember every summer visiting Cincinnati to see my Dads siblings and Mom and we always visited with Jerry as well. May he rest in peace. Rick Apseloff
