“ While searching for details on the passing of one of my mentors, I “stumbled” upon the loss of my WHHS classmate and cycling partner. Too young... I hope his transition was peaceful. Condolences to his family, close friends and colleagues.

“ My condolences to John's family and friends. I knew John way back in our grade school years, as we were in the same classes at Roselawn School. He was brilliant then and it seems as though he was brilliant in adult life. Sad to lose such a soul so early. Robin K, a grade school and high school classmate

“ My deepest condolences go out to John's loved ones during this difficult time. I had the privilege of meeting John over the past few months, as he joined the NOAA National Weather Service Office of Water Prediction team and worked towards improving precipitation frequency estimates. What stood out to me during our interactions was his exceptional professionalism and gentle character. He will be greatly missed.

“ Our team sadly lost an important member. He was working as Statistician for an important project of NOAA. Under his role, John supported and guided the rest of the team on best statistical approaches to incorporate temporal variation of maximum extreme events, which would be crucial to consider Climate change impact on such events. His intelligence and commitment was admirable. He was colaborative, receptive, kind and dependable. He will be missed! Our most sincere condolences to his family.

“ I had the opportunity to get to know John over the past couple of months as a member of the NOAA Atlas 15 team. He was a talented statistician and clearly had a passion for this work. I wish I had more time to get to know John, and to learn more from him. His passing is a huge loss for our group, both personally and professionally. My thoughts are with his family and others who knew him well.
