“ Larry Goldstein has been a part of my life since I was a little girl. Our relationship began when he and his family moved in next store to us some time in the 1960s. From the very beginning he impressed my family and I, with his many abilities. He was a craftsman, repair technician, and an extraordinary teacher. As the years pasted, we began and shared similar interests such as teaching, dragons, photography, computers, and good food. Larry and Sandy often asked Phil and I out to dinner. Even though there was a 24 years difference in our ages, we enjoyed the friendship good neighbors develop. During the last years Larry lived in Plainview, he frequently asked if he could stop by to either show some pictures of his grandchildren, discuss how he was feeling, praise my husband Phil for snowplowing his walk and driveway.

Larry Goldstein was a Renaissance Man!
