“ Lazar was my friend for about 30 years despite a generation-size age difference. We share the country of origin. We shared the stage playing music together; Lazar played everything from memory and he knew hundreds of songs in different languages. We shared good and bad times together. Lazar was from Baku, Azerbaijan, where I visited a few times. Lazar was very outgoing; he was friends with many members of my family, especially with my late father. The memory of Lazar will never dim in all people that he touched.
