“ Phil was a long time member of the Queen City Balladeers, and a fixture at Leo Coffeehouse for many years, where he was a friend to many. I will remember Phil for his wit, his outgoing nature, and his love for folk music. We miss him.

“ Phil and his wonderful wife Karen made you feel like family. We had many lovely trips together and even more warm and inviting ceilidhs. Playing music or just being with Phil was always a learning experience. I will miss him everytime I pick up my guitar. Prudence

“ We have fond memories of the New Year's Eve ceilidhs (music singing parties) that Phil and Karen hosted over the years. Phil was a great folk singer and guitar player and everyone enjoyed his dry wit and humor. -Greg Buening
